Course Writing a Literature Review in the TIL Domain

Date:	16 February, 23 March, 22 June 2017
Time:	see below
Location:	see below
Course leader:	Prof. Bert van Wee
ECTS:	1 (attendance) / 4 (assignment)
Course fee:	Free for TRAIL/Beta/OML members, others please contact the TRAIL office
Registration:	info@rstrail.nl

Objectives

To explain TRAIL participants how to write a literature review for a scientific journal in the TIL-domain.

Those who do not aim to write a journal paper but, for example, a chapter in their thesis are also welcome. Journal papers have the highest ambition level and are the point of departure.

Description

This course helps you to write a literature review paper. It explains types of literature reviews, the structure of literature review papers, gives tips and tricks, and discusses some example papers.

After day 1 you draft a literature review, or at least its outline. Students commend on each other's drafts. On day 2 we share and discuss experiences, and the way to address review comments. On day 3 participants present their literature review paper and others comment.

Structure

Day 1: teaching.
Intermediate period: writing a draft literature review (outline), PhDs reflect on each other's review.
Day 2: sharing and discussing experiences; additional tips and tricks.
Day 3: presentations of literature review paper plus feedback
